PROJECTS

2021-2026

Knowledge-First Social Epistemology

Research Project, Principal Investigator

Knowledge first epistemology takes knowledge as central to epistemological affairs and ventures to analyse other epistemic standings in terms of knowledge. This project extends the knowledge-first approach to issues in social epistemology, such as testimony, trust, disagreement, group belief and the epistemology of the media.

Funding:

ERC Starting Grant (EUR 1,470,000).

January 2019 –
January 2022

A Virtue Epistemology of Trust

Research Project, Co-Investigator (with A. Carter and C. Kelp)

This project offers a novel method for theorising about what dispositions trusting well requires, and breaks new ground in debates about trustworthiness by showing that skills needed to be a good truster, as well as to be reliably trustworthy, are importantly related.

Funding:

The Leverhulme Trust (GBP 254,871).

January 2021 –
January 2026

Dimensions of Wellbeing

Impact & Research Project, Principal Investigator (with C. Kelp)

This project develops an etiological functionalist account of wellbeing and impacts leisure industry. To this effect, it looks into several dimensions of wellbeing (e.g. cognitive, emotional, social, physical) and argues that general wellbeing amounts to function fulfilment along all said dimensions.

Funding

Impact & Research Industry Grant: ‘Dimensions of Wellbeing’ (GBP 332,075).
Awarded by: Therme Group, Austria.

December 2016 –
July 2019

Epistemic Norms and Epistemic Functions

Research Project. Role: Principal Investigator.

This project develops a novel, functionalist, integrated account of the normativity of practical reasoning, assertion and belief, in conjunction with a general account of etiological functions and their normative import. At the heart of this account is the thesis that practical reasoning, assertion and belief have etiological epistemic functions that give rise to prescriptive epistemic norms

Funding:

Mind Association Research Fellowship (GBP 23,000)

Postdoctoral Research Fellowship (EUR 140,000). Awarded by: Centre for the Study of Mind in Nature and ConceptLab, University of Oslo.

JuMo Early Career Mobility Funding (EUR 14,500)

October 2013 -
December 2016

Assertion: The Context Sensitivity Dilemma

Research Project. Role: Principal Investigator.

This project argues against orthodoxy that the knowledge norm of assertion is compatible with a classical invariantist account of knowledge and puts forth a functionalist picture of the normativity of assertion.

Funding:

Doctoral Research Fellowship. Awarded by Research Foundation Flanders (FWO) and KU Leuven, Belgium. (EUR 105.000).
